Keynote Speakers

Dr. Ari Brown, M.D., FAAP

Dr. Ari Brown, M.D., FAAP, is a pediatrician, book author, child health advocate, and a mom.

Dr. Brown completed a Bachelor's Degree in Child Development at the University of Texas at Austin. She completed her pediatric residency and developmental pediatrics fellowship at Harvard Medical School/Boston Children's Hospital. She practices medicine full-time in Austin, TX.

Dr. Brown's passion to educate families about children's health led her to co-author the best-selling "411" parenting book series including Expecting 411: Clear Answers and Smart Advice for your Pregnancy, Baby 411, and Toddler 411.

She is a trusted voice for children's health. Dr. Brown is a medical advisor for Parents Magazine and ABC News, and a spokeswoman for the American Academy of Pediatrics. She has appeared on numerous national news and talk shows including NBC's Today Show, CNN, and Rachael Ray.

Dr. Michael Smith, M.D.

Dr. Smith earned his medical degree from the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Columbia University. He completed residency training at Hasbro Children's Hospital in Providence, Rhode Island, and fellowship training in pediatric infectious diseases at the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia. While in Philadelphia he also earned a Masters of Science in Clinical Epidemiology from the Center for Clinical Epidemiology and Biostatistics at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine.

He is currently Assistant Professor of Pediatrics at the University of Louisville School of Medicine Division of Pediatric Infectious Diseases and Attending Physician at Kosair Children's Hospital in Louisville, KY.

Dr. Smith's research focuses on vaccine risk communication, the epidemiology of vaccine-preventable diseases, and the judicious use of antimicrobials. He is the co-author of The Complete Idiot's Guide to Vaccinations and has written several articles and book chapters on vaccine safety and vaccine risk communication.
